OBJECTIVES

Temple University's Katz School of Medicine needed a full AV upgrade across MERB and Kresge Hall to support diverse instructional spaces from quad rooms to auditoriums with simple controls and a consistent user experience.

SOLUTIONS

AVT delivered a comprehensive AV refresh across the Katz School of Medicine covering lecture halls, quad rooms, classrooms, conference rooms, and group study spaces.

Upgraded Control Systems

Tabletop touch panels with preset modes for divisible room configurations making it easy for faculty to reconfigure rooms with the push of a button

Integrated Teaching Podiums

Each podium was outfitted with a PC, desktop monitor, gooseneck microphone, webcam, HDMI input plate, and cable cubby making every room presentation ready

Improved Audio Coverage

Ceiling microphones, boundary mics, and hearing assistance systems ensure clear, accessible audio throughout each space

RESULTS

- User Experience: Room layouts shift in seconds using simple presets. Systems are intuitive for all users
- Efficiency: Prebuilt AV racks sped up installs and ensured consistent quality campus-wide
- Client Trust: Temple keeps choosing AVT for reliable delivery and a strong, collaborative relationship
- Our Commitment: AVT proudly supports Temple's mission with AV systems that work right from day one
